"WARMONGERING" AGAIN

Again the Moscow radio has been accusing the United States of warmongering. The Kremlin has protested to the State Department, the radio said, against an article in the magazine Newsweek that explained how the Air Force could use atom bombs against the big Russian cities.

In Russia, of course, the people assume that whatever their own press says has official approval. They believe that the American press operates in similar manner. To them, their magazines and newspapers are mouthpieces of the Kremlin. It is beyond their conception that there can be a free press in the most powerful nation in the world.

Why do American magazine print articles on methods to bomb Russia? Americans know why. They know that the American Ann's R. C. While brick is the material chosen in this particular instance. the house would be equally appealing carried out in fieldstone or clapboard, or perhaps a combination of clapboard and brick.

the heart.

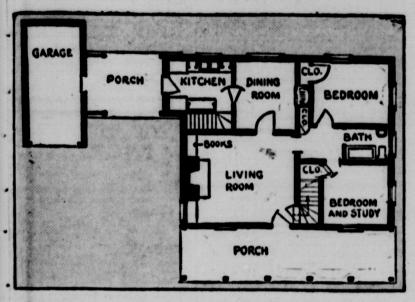

Connecting the garage to the jouse with a covered terrace not only adds a convenient feature to the home but also gives it an illusion of increased size and makes it appear that the whole house must be unusually light and airy. As a matter of fact, the interior plans ffave been drawn with special thought for this advantage of airiness, the living room and two downstairs bedrooms each having crossventilation, and facing dormer windows providing the same for the two bedrooms upstairs.

Bathrooms both up and downstairs are located convenient to each pair of bedrooms.

Neat and Trim in its White-Washed Brick, this gracious country home has captured an appealing air of hospitality. In style, the house gives much the effect of an old-time farmhouse, the covered passage and garage simulating yesterday's attached outbuilding.
